Wolf Lullaby

Directed by Jonathan Dunn

Auditions: August 12, 2018 @ 1:00 pm

Intriguing! Gripping! Breathtakingly audacious. WOLF LULLABY by Hilary Bell is coming to Z-PAC. This play unapologetically packs a punch and will grip audiences until its final moment.

In a bleak, remote town, a small child is murdered. Suspicion falls upon nine-year-old Lizzie. Angela, Lizzie's young mother, is convinced her daughter is guilty. She must make the torturous choice between ignoring what her intuition tells her, and presenting Lizzie to the police, with painfully extracted information. Lizzie is constantly haunted by a 'Wolf', which seems to overwhelm her and, in her words, 'swallow' her.

For the four characters of this play, all their accepted beliefs about the world are challenged.

WOLF LULLABY explores the disturbing question "can someone be born evil?" The situation for these characters tests the bonds between parent and child, society and individual.

This is a unique opportunity for local artists to extend their skills and immerse themselves in a classic of Australian Gothic literature. With a small cast, the experience for both actor and audience will be intense. For more information, download an audition package. Auditions occur August 12, 2018 @ 1:00 pm at Z-PAC Theatre – 15 Zephyr St Scarness.

It's Only a Play – by Terrence McNally.

July 27-August 11 (8 shows only)

Directed by Mark Thomson and Theresa Saunders

Some Adult language and Adult Themes. Not suitable for children.

A sizzling comic celebration of theatre at its best and theatre people at their not-so-best.

It's the opening night of "The Golden Egg" on Broadway and there's a lavish party at the producer's townhouse as they await the first reviews. The action takes place in the bedroom above the party where a group of insiders have staked themselves out to be the first to hear the reviews. In the group are the excitable playwright, the unstable director, the pill popping, aging star with an ankle monitor, the playwright's supposed best friend, the show's producer, the acerbic drama critic and a wannabe young actor who combine to create a sharp and comic comment on theatre and the people who inhabit it.

Tickets selling fast. Book today. Online Book or at the Box Office at the theatre Fridays 9-12
